CAMP WRITER SEES MUCH IN GASOLINE.

Intake Valve—Why is the town market so much like a phlegm throat?
Exhaust Valve—Well, you see, he gives away so much.
Intake Valve—He just gave me how 30 days this morning, for speeding and also jugged his assistant, but he is out in town.
Intake Valve—If that's the case he should be called a headstrong instead, for it seems that he is constantly jugging, betting and losing.
Since the motor trucks have been installed in Camp Furlong, the Supply company's miles have been waxing fast—no work to do and plenty to eat. But the company's personnel remains the same. One of the skimmers and he wishes he could change himself into a motor three times a day—at breakfast, dinner and supper, that is, until the company gets a new type car.

January 11, February on his August jaw with a Hickory and the Military Police Marched January to Reed's Chilly Hotel on a hot July day where he is liable to remain until about Gold December, according to how the summary Court Officer feels about the weather.

VERGE.
Bear the news that's going around? Prices on everything are going down.
Even gasoline, and cup grease, too. Will move southward a cent or two.
Spark plugs, bearings and piston rings are all included in the list of expensive things.
They'll be so cheap till folks will say:
Why, boys, they're just giving 'em away!

CHORUS.
"Indeed, indeed," said a Summer Breeze.
"When cows and elephants rood in trees
And farmer girls milk honey bees
And all our dogs are rid of fleas
And the village of Columbus is full of trees
Then auto owners can rest at ease."

ANSWER.
Nones. En este mundo.
"Why do some people ask such foolish questions?" inquired a young lady stenographer of another lady "sten," as they stood on the corner by the postoffice. "Why, Annie came into the office just a while ago and saw me sitting at my desk, hammering away at my typewriter for all I was worth, and had the nerve to ask me if I was working! What do you think of that?" (And that same young lady had just passed the home of one of her friends and saw that friend out on the side porch "hustling" and "naked friend friend" and "bustle." "What are you doing, Marjorie, washing?" to which "Marjorie" replied: "No, Rubie, I am only perfecting my inner beauties."
Close that door, boy—don't you see that Texas Tommy coming!

The 42nd Infantry Exchange is having some extra work done to the country and shivers in order to house the large amount of new stock which it comes in, and has also ordered a motorcycle and sidecar to assist in removing this stock from the "Baggage Office." (No one ever divided for the companies this month.)

Teacher—Now, Johnnie, you write a sentence on the blackboard which includes the word "delight."
And this is what Johnnie wrote: "The wind blew in de window and blew out de light."

Republican—Say, Joe, what do you pay for gasoline?
Democrat—None (and wanted no).

"THE INVINCIBLE DIVORCE" AND PEEP HOLES OF EYE.
Could you still be a wife to a man who loved another woman? This question is the theme of a photoplay that looks fearfully at life. "The Invincible Divorce," a National picture which is to be shown at the Columbus theater Sunday.

This production finds a new prop in that corner of life into which so many people stray, but in this instance it probes the sort of a divorce that never reaches the headlines of a newspaper. When a divorce would mean scandal and no society and when a wife and husband live together with that wall of disillusionment between them, then comes suffering more intense than in the divorce cases we read about.

CAPT. W. J. HOWLAND, O.M.C., ORDERED TO WASHINGTON.

WASHINGTON, D. C., July 11.—Captain William J. Howland, Quartermaster Corps, is ordered from Camp Furlong, Columbus, N. M., to Washington, D. C.
Captain Howland is one of the best known and deservedly popular officers at the post here, and while it was known his work here was practically completed and he would be transferred, it will be good news that he is transferred to the Capital.

WORK STARTS ON $14,000 COLD STORAGE PLANT.

Excavation work has been started on the new cold storage plant in Camp Furlong. When bids were advertised for and a contractor responded, so the government has gone ahead with the preliminary work and will build the plant with day labor. About twenty-five civil jobs will be employed.

THINKS WELL OF BRIGGS.
Johnnie Johnson, El Paso and fine columnist, wrote the El Paso Herald sports department that he was at the ring side in Columbus when Cyclone Briggs fought the veteran "Blackhawk" Monday night, and that he never saw a more cleanly contested battle. Briggs won the decision of the referee by quite a substantial margin. He showed considerable cleverness and hitting ability with both hands and is undoubtedly one of the fastest boys of his weight in the south. Johnnie is a boxing fan who knows a fighter when he sees one and fans who count upon being at the ring side July 12, when Cahell and Briggs again have it out, are in to witness some real hitting.

Mulberry trees have been raised successfully and a good quality of raw silk produced as the result of experiments in introducing the silk industry into Columbus.

Machines have been developed by the United States Bureau of Standards to test airplane landing gear for strains and materials for covering planes for wind pressures.

Fern's Forced to Reduce Stock Sale starts Monday, July 12.

The End of a Perfect Day

Facts and Fancies Gathered Here and There

Business from Vacation.
Mr. and Mrs. Sam Fein return from their California trip this evening.

Ever See Them Start?
Wherein Mildred dons powder feathers to strut before the eyes of the world, and even in Columbus. On the screen at the Onyx tomorrow (Sunday).

Ball Game Sunday.
Tomorrow afternoon at 2:30 o'clock the Columbus baseball team will play a team from the 24th Infantry at the camp. Everybody welcome.

Field's recovery slow.
Dr. Field, who has been ill for a month with blood poisoning, is slowly but surely recovering. At our time Dr. Field's condition was extremely serious, but the infection has been materially reduced.

Has Touch of Blood Poisoning.
Geoff Pender, who the other morning with his left hand scolded out of all proportion. Consulting a doctor, he found his hand was infected with blood poisoning, although he had not injured his hand. He suspects a spider's bite.

Li. Reese Lloyd in El Paso.
Lieutenant Reese Lloyd of the Medical Corps, United States Army, left El Paso Friday morning after a visit of several days. Lieutenant Lloyd stopped here en route to his new station at Fort Apache, after being stationed some time in Columbus, N. M.—El Paso Herald.

First Page Ad for Daily Courier.
It was hardly necessary to call the readers' attention to the full page ad of The Banner in The Daily Courier yesterday, and it wouldn't be spoken of now except it was the first full page ad ever printed in The Daily Courier. You will see it next week also, and it tells its own story—bargains.

Electrical Storm.
About 2 o'clock this morning the heavens above Columbus were abuzz with electrical displays that were followed by a good rain. The temperature dropped rapidly. With the arrival of Old Sol this morning, however, the indicator in the thermometer commenced jumping and in a few hours was back on its old stamping grounds.

Has New Swift Buick.
If you see a new Buick six and a couple of Army officers in the front seats this afternoon cavorting around the city, this Buick will inform you that Captain Burke is inducting Major MacDonald into the mysteries of the mechanism of a Buick. The major always has been intrigued with the one idea of speed, and immediately after he won the fat man's race Monday he departed to take the Army exam at Fort Bliss and afterwards purchased the car. It arrived here today, and after it was pronounced all right by Mrs. MacDonald and Jimmy, the son of the house of MacDonald, the Major and Captain Burke were permitted to try it out. When last seen this afternoon the machine was headed for the mountains. Major MacDonald said she purchased a new Buick in El Paso—but that is another story and has to do with the fat man's race.

Would You Lie?
Should a man lie to save a woman's reputation? If you can not answer it see the screen answer at the Onyx tonight.

Swimming Pool at Camp.
Plans are under way for a swimming pool at Camp Furlong which will be at least 40 by 100 feet. It will be located upon the high west end ground and the water overflow will be used for park irrigation purposes.

Sunday Service at M. E. Church.
The subject of the 11 o'clock service at the M. E. church will be "Mountain Top Experiences and the Valley of Service." Sunday school, as usual, at 10 o'clock. Immediately after the church service there will be a short business meeting of the official board.

Jimmy's Old Wr.
When Jimmy Ryder stunk his first oil well and it proved a failure, he would have given up in despair. But his young wife urged him on. His second strike was a "winner," just as love eventually proved itself to be. See "The Invincible Divorce," a new National picture, at the Columbus theater Sunday.

Not a Sale of Odds and Ends.
The full page ad of Sam Fein in today's Daily Courier contains some considerable bargains. Carrying one of the largest stocks of goods in this section of the state, this firm has decided on a reduction of its stock from one end of the store to the other, and bargains rare may be found on the counters and shelves all next week.

Cherish Back.
Barry Cherish of Capin & Son, who went to Arizona to open up a new store for the firm, is back in Columbus as relief man for El Capin who leaves for a two months vacation in California. Barry said he particularly wanted to get a peek at the firm's new store here in Columbus which will be occupied by the latter part of this month. It will be located in the A. T. Frost building on Broadway.

Pay Your Road Tax!
Look out for George W. Farrar! He has been appointed road tax collector and this morning received his credentials from C. B. Sampson, highway superintendent of Luna county. Death and taxes are sure thing events in every man's life. Both require a collector and a grave digger. So, while you are alive, take care of the tax collector. Mr. Farrar handled his office of census taker with much success and it is a foregone conclusion that he will get up all the road tax money possible.

The Cradle Roll.
We want the babies for our Methodist Sunday school—from the wee and furred, new arrivals to the crawlers and those who at three years of age begin to feel they are a part of the world of Sunday schools. We are not ready to have them come to Sunday school yet, for they are too young to appreciate the lesson story even as told for the "beginners' class," but we want them as members of our cradle roll. Their names will be inscribed on our records, their birthdays remembered with a card and their parents counted among our constituency. Then, when they are old enough, say four years old, we will welcome them to our active membership. Have you a baby in your home who ought to belong to the Methodist Sunday school cradle roll? Or do you know such a baby? Tell Mrs. Barton, giving the name and birthday, and baby will soon be a full fledged member of our Sunday school.

27 Telephones on the Run.
Electrician Stalup had an early morning's work cut out for him by the electrical storm which occurred shortly after 2 o'clock this morning. The storm had wrecked havoc with the telephone connections and instruments. Miss Burton, director manager of the telephone company, wired El Paso for a bulk of lines for future contingencies.

SOMETHING ABOUT "LOMBARDI, LIMITED"
Romance and the glamour of beautiful girls contribute an exotic setting to "Lombardi, Ltd.," in which, as Tito Lombardi, an eccentric Italian gown designer, Bert Lyell is one of the most picturesque roles of his career. In his Fifth Avenue dress making establishment, where society women came for their afternoon recreations, Lombardi dreams his dreams and makes his ladies love to a girl who proves false to him. Aesthetic and generous, his business simply goes to ruin, almost because of his faith in men and women. How his woe and pretty little assistant, Nora, eventually come to his rescue and awaken him to a realization of her loyalty and love is told in a fascinating comedy drama unfilled by those master craftsmen, Frederick and Fanny Hatten. On the stage, "Lombardi, Ltd.," was presented by Olive Morosini for a season in New York and more than a year on tour.

Both Old Parties Drummed.
After two hours of argument over rules to govern the convention and the permanent officers, the convention of the committee of forty-eight adjourned at 3 o'clock p. m. today, to meet again at 5 p. m. and complete organization.

The Republican and Democratic parties were denounced as "the right and left wings of the same hard of prey" by Temporary Chairman Allen McCurdy in his keynote address.

McCurdy charged the two dominant parties had evaded the paramount domestic issues at a time when what the country needs is "fewer laws and more freedom."

The abolition of special privilege, said McCurdy, was the issue around which the new party would appeal to the voters in November. He added the new party proposed effecting that end through the removal of the sources from which special privilege derives its power.

LONG HAIRS GET THIRD PARTY STARTED.

(By Associated Press.)
CHICAGO, Ill., July 10.—The "committee of forty-eight," assisted by fraternal delegates representing half a dozen liberal and radical organizations, today launched a third party movement in the first national convention here.

Senator Robert M. La Follette of Wisconsin, who won in the mail vote-rumored taken by the party to determine the most popular candidate for the party's presidential nomination, appears to have no opposition.

Scarcely all the five or six hundred delegates assembled here were La Follette backers.

Today's session was largely given over to the keynote addresses and organization work.

Allen McCurdy of New York, temporary chairman of the convention, outlined both the Republican and Democratic platforms.

Wet Planks and Long Hairs.

The convention's first session today was delayed an hour in starting by conference between representatives and committees of the Labor party, Nonpartisan League, Single Tax party, Triple Alliance of the Northwest and several other organizations which are flirting with the third party emblem. Each group came with some pet plank for the third party's platform, and the task of selecting all the various elements into a satisfactory fusion platform proved a complicated proposition.

Before adjournment to attend a conference with the committee of forty-eight, the Single Tax delegates took a definite stand as to the platform upon which they could fuse with the new groups. The various groups included "unqualified and bitter" stand against "socialistic" and "paternalistic" policies, and also demanded the inclusion of a Single Tax plank in the event of fusion.

The Single Tax delegates also made an attempt to combine with the national Labor party, which opens its national convention here tomorrow.
